The primary business activities of the Corporation result in financial statements that are primarily comprised by financial instruments. As such, the Corporation is exposed to certain risks related to financial instruments:

a) Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk refers to the risk that the Corporation will have insufficient cash resources to meet its financial obligations when they become due. The Corporation manages liquidity risk by reviewing resources to ensure that it will have sufficient liquidity to meet liabilities as they become due and to support business strategies.

The Corporation generates cash flow from the disposal of investments, financing activities, and dividend and interest income. The Corporation primarily invests in equity and debt instruments of publicly traded cannabis companies. The Corporation is also permitted to invest up to 40% of capital in non-publicly traded cannabis companies. Disposal of investments in non-publicly traded companies could differ from the carrying value since an active-market does not exist.

As at July 31, 2018, the Corporation's contractual cash flows, which were payable under financial liabilities in these financial statements consisted of accounts payable and accrued liabilities with payments due in less than one year. All of the Corporation's financial assets as reported on the July 31, 2018 statement of financial position are considered liquid and convertible into cash in less than one year.

b) Market risk

Market risk is the risk of loss arising from adverse changes in market rates and prices, such as interest rates, equity market fluctuations, foreign currency exchange rates and other relevant market rate or price changes. Market risk is directly influenced by the volatility and liquidity in the markets in which the related underlying assets are traded. The market risks to which the Corporation is exposed is equity price risk and interest rate risk.

i) Equity price risk

The Corporation is exposed to price risk with respect to equity prices. Equity price risk is defined as the potential adverse impact on the Corporation's earnings due to movements in individual equity prices or general movements in the level of the stock market or the cannabis sub-market. As at July 31, 2018, should the equity prices of the Corporation's holdings increase or decrease by 5%, the impact on net income or loss would be approximately $647,336.

ii) Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is the risk that the fair value of future cash flows from a financial instrument will fluctuate due to changes in market interest rates. The Corporation's exposure to interest rate risk relates to its ability to earn interest income on cash and cash equivalents and fixed income securities held.

The fair value of the Corporation's cash and cash equivalents and investments affected by changes of interest rates is minimal.

c) Currency risk

Currency risk is the risk that the fair value of future cash flows from the Corporation's operations will fluctuate due to changes in foreign exchange rates. The Corporation holds investments denominated in United States dollars, ("U.S. dollar"). A change in the U.S. dollar foreign exchange rate versus the Corporation's functional and presentation currency may have an adverse effect on its investments. As
